

Contents

Sara de Wit, Arno Pascht and Michaela Haug
Translating Climate Change. Anthropology and the Travelling Idea of Climate Change – Introduction . . . . .	1
Sara de Wit
Victims or Masters of Adaptation? How the Idea of Adaptation to Climate Change Travels Up and Down to a Village in Simanjoro, Maasailand Northern Tanzania . . . . .	21
Rebecca Hofmann
Localizing Global Climate Change in the Pacific. Knowledge and Response in Chuuk, Federated States of Micronesia (FSM) . . . . .	43
Thomas Friedrich
The Local Epistemology of Climate Change: How the Scientific Discourse on Global Climate Change is Received on the Island of Palawan, the Philippines . . . . .	63
Michael Bollig
Afterword: Anthropology, Climate Change and Social-Ecological Transformations in the Anthropocene . . . . .	85

Book Reviews

Bettina Beer/Hans Fischer/Julia Pauli (Hg.), Ethnologie. Einführung in die Erforschung kultureller Vielfalt (Michelle Engeler) . . . . .	95
Arlie Russell Hochschild, Strangers in Their Own Land. Anger and Mourning on the American Right (Mario Krämer) . . . . .	97
Jeremy F. Walton, Muslim Civil Society and the Politics of Religious Freedom in Turkey (Emrah Çelik) . . . . .	100